ALL SORTS.

Truly Shattuck at the Opera House this evening.

A G.O.P. club has been started at Nevada City.

There was quite a lively rain yesterday afternoon.

Don't forget the big show on Thursday. Miss Truly Shattuck will appear and there will be an immense bill.

The ballot paper this year in color is a light blue with the American eagle perched on a scroll for a water mark.

It is said that the valley about Battle Mountain and the town itself is stronger for the Silver party than two years ago.

The Turn Veneers will give a party at Armory Hall November 2nd. The unique feature of the affair will be a number of young ladies giving a gymnastic exercise in bloomer costumes.

Gen. John E. Jones returned home yesterday from his campaigning trip and reports the East well in line for the Silver ticket with 2,000 votes to spare when it reaches the Sink of the Humboldt.

It is claimed that the three men who robbed the S. P. train at Sacramento are from Nevada. Probably some candidates who needed a few dollars to raise a Republican sentiment in the Eastern counties.

Mr. Vanderleith has election cards out endorsed by Rev. Hyslop, the Democratic nominee for School Trustee. Mr. Hyslop, although a Democratic nominee, calls on the voters to support the Republican nominee. We always claimed that the so-called Democratic ticket was not put in the field to win, but to help the Republican ticket, and this little business gives the whole snap away. These tickets are now hard to find, as the Central Committee realizing the way the thing looks are calling the cards in.

Hints for Candidates.

A correspondent sends us the following valuable hints to those who desire to be elected to office this Fall:

Don't fail to go to every dance from now until election. Get on the Floor Committee if you can.

Don't believe every man who promises to vote for you. The votes you need, by the way, are of the people who don't tell you what they are going to do.

Don't be too affectionate in wringing the hands of people you failed to notice a few weeks ago. They are all of them, "onto" you, in their cynical worldly way.

Don't go into saloons. Mingling in beer circles is not acceptable in the eyes of the temperance element. And don't stay away from saloons, if you hope to get elected.

Don't fail to get around among the people. Remember that a day's campaigning before the election is worth a week's after it.

Don't neglect to wear the badge or pin of every order you belong to. Nothing like letting your brother voters know you are proud of the fraternal ties.

Don't imagine you are so well known that you don't need to advertise. You are not half so popular as you think.

Don't make any more speeches than you can help. Lay in a supply of almanacs, and tickle your constituents with some original jokes.

Don't, at your peril, appear on the streets with a silk hat until the sun gets safely down behind the hills across the Truckee basin on November 6th.

What's the Matter With 200.

The Silver party of Nevada is trying hard to shake off the odium it cast upon itself two years ago, by its Legislature submitting an amendment to the Constitution on the lottery question to the people again by accusing A. C. Cleveland of being a "lottery man."—Reno Gazette.

The lottery fight is over, yet the Gazette doesn't seem to have learned the fact. We never see the Gazette raving over the dead and buried lottery fight, but we think of the time he was in the back room of Wieland's saloon in Reno. A proposition was made to him to support the lottery for 100 shares of stock.

He fixed his cold, calculating optic on the speaker and replied:

"What's the matter with two hundred?"

The 200 shares was not forthcoming and the Gazette became a rabid anti-lottery paper.

VOTE THEM DOWN.

The Ferguson Lode on the Amendment.

The Ferguson Lode thus sizes up the amendment:

An important matter in this election which should receive the direct attention of every voter, regardless of party affiliations are the proposed constitutional amendments which are to be voted upon. We are irrevocably opposed to any patchwork in the shape of amendments, muddling up our present State Constitution. If our Constitution is to be amended or remodeled, we say let it be done in the proper manner by the holding of a State Constitutional Convention of representative citizens, convened for that particular purpose, and not a few wire-workers in our State Legislature who are working for glory under the banner of retrenchment and a "penury" basis or who have some more direct purposes at heart.

Among the amendments is one providing for the investment in irrigation and water bonds of our school monies from our State school fund. We have over one million dollars in that fund, and to have it wiped out by a crowd of speculators on the plea of irrigation and proposed water schemes is preposterous and would ever rightfully brand the fair name of Nevada and hold up its people to everlasting scorn and condemnation if such were to be a part of our Constitution. This amendment should appeal to every voter, liberal minded citizen and every man of family, and be denounced and voted down without discrimination or argument.

Another amendment is an educational test. While we believe in an educational test that is satisfactory to an election board of inspectors far as reading and writing are to be considered, still we most strenuously object to one that requires a citizen to write and read aloud a long legal document like that of the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of Nevada, which is directly required by the amendment. We think it is too much phraseology to wade through, and would be the means of disfranchising many of our law abiding and intelligent citizens who are practically enlightened and well up in business.

There are other amendments just as inconsistent and without the bonds of reason as those we have here mentioned, and we could write all day upon them and show reasons why they should be voted down.

All told, there are twenty-four to be voted upon, and we say reject them all without any discrimination and vote "no" down the entire line and in that way make no mistake. Then it will leave it open to us as a people later on to remodel our Constitution in the proper manner.

The Train Robbery.

The California detectives are still unable to nail the Sacramento train robbers. It is known however that they are quite anxious to learn the whereabouts of three counterfeiters who recently went to Sacramento from Reno. The men did considerable business "shoving the queer" in Nevada, and when they found that the officers were watching them, they suddenly left. Descriptions of them were sent broadcast over the country, and, naturally, came into the police office in Sacramento.

A few days ago, just prior to the robbery of the express train, a local officer found three men camped in the brush near Sacramento. They had a large buckboard, two horses and a complete camping outfit, including rifles. They exactly fitted the descriptions of the counterfeiters wanted at Reno. The wagon and horses had been secured since leaving Nevada.

Sensations Promised.

The trial of S. D. Worden, one of the striking railroad men who is accused of murder in connection with the wrecking of a train in Yolo county, came up in the Superior Court at Woodland yesterday. The trial promises to be full of sensations, as it is claimed that a great mass of evidence, which was not presented at the preliminary examination, has been secured by the prosecution. It is said that some of this evidence is exceedingly damaging against the other defendants in the case, as well as against Worden.

A gross of pop corn and chewing gum arrived on this morning's train. Vanderleith and Richards contemplate another raid into the country.

COAST NEWS

Santa Clara will vote on the Sunday saloon-closing ordinance in November.

A wild steer gored a Chinaman at Petaluma Monday. The man's injuries are fatal.

Isaac N. Harris, editor of the National Spectator at Fresno, died Monday, aged sixty-three.

The Alturians have purchased about 2,000 acres of farming and grazing land on Mark West creek, seven miles north of Santa Rosa.

A heavy norther is reported to be blowing on the Gulf of California, and fears are entertained for shipping. Several of the smaller craft, it is feared, are lost.

A boy named Mezza was shot in the mouth by a younger brother, near Nicasio, Monday, while in the brush, being mistaken for game. He was not fatally injured.

Grave fears are entertained by shipping men that the wreckage reported of Cape Flattery two weeks ago is from the ship Ivanhoe, coal laden, twenty days out from Seattle for San Francisco.

Near Drain, Or., last week, some wretch tied an old horse on the track and the north-bound overland train ran over the animal. The horse was tied both by the neck and heels to the rails.

Capelle, Gordon, Liberty and Tucker is the record of school houses burned in Napa county within the past year. The Tucker school house was destroyed two weeks ago, and the Liberty the early part of last week.

The remains of the man drowned off Ensenada, Lower California, are supposed to be those of J. H. Steidinger, the guarantee number on his watch assisting in the identification by Cummings Sons, jewelers of San Francisco.

The little two-year-old daughter of Mrs. Amelia Cook of Salem, Or., slipped and fell through the barbed-wire fence along the bank of the mill race. In some way her hair caught on a barb, and there she hung, her feet touching the swift water, until her parents heard her cries and came to her relief.

To-day the Chino farmers will receive $68,500 for beets delivered during the month of September. The season, will end to-night. The tonnage has not been quite so heavy as last year, but the percentage of sugar has been higher, making the amount received by the farmers as much.

Two young men named James and George Lipp, aged nineteen and seventeen years respectively, were horribly mutilated by the explosion of a box of giant powder caps, near Mokelumne Hill, Monday. The left hand of James was torn to shreds, necessitating amputation at the wrist, his eyesight was destroyed, his head, face and upper part of his body filled with fragments of metal from cap shells and the tin box in which the shells were contained; while the brother, George, was mangled about the head, losing one eye, and probably both. The first and second fingers and thumb of the left hand of James were found near the place, still holding a half-burnt cigarette.

It is reported that Senator Jones will be in Nevada about the 20th of this month, and will make four or five speeches in this State. This would be a strong card for the Silver Party of Nevada, but it is not absolutely necessary. The people of this State are well enough posted in regard to which party is the friend of the miner and farmer not to vote for any but Silver Party nominees.
